The Crime Awareness and Campus Security Act of 1990

Security Message from Business Services and Facilities

The university's Business Services and Facilities department is responsible for the safety and security of all university property. Its headquarters are located at 536 Mission Street in San Francisco. The campus security staff uses two approaches in its efforts to prevent crime: first, eliminating or minimizing opportunities for crime; and second, encouraging students and staff to be responsible for their own security and the security of others.

In the 1980s, concerns grew about crime and security at the nation's post secondary institutions. Such institutions traditionally had been considered to be safe havens where students could focus on their studies. However, a number of high profile violent crimes on college campuses changed that perception. Such concerns led Congress to pass legislation regarding campus security and crime reporting at post secondary institutions.

The Student Right-to-Know and Campus Security Act was passed by Congress in 1990 in response to concerns about crime and security at post secondary education institutions. This Act requires institutions participating in student financial aid programs under Title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965 to disclose information about campus safety policies and procedures and to provide statistics concerning whether certain crimes took place on campus.

The following section provides information of the number of reported occurrences and arrests on campus for the crimes specified in the Campus Security Act:

Security Resources

Golden Gate University does not have the traditional large campus with residence halls, as found at many other institutions. Golden Gate University is a multi-building urban campus that includes 62 1st Street, 40 Jessie Street and the main building at 536 Mission Street.

At the San Francisco campus, contracted and university security officers monitor the facility twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. These security officers are not sworn police officers and do not possess enforcement powers. However, to provide extra enforcement powers, the university also contracts with SFPD Patrol Special to provide foot and vehicle patrol at and around the campus during the evening hours. These officers, one per evening weekday shift, are sworn officers as established by Section 830.2(d) of the California Penal Code. During late evening hours, contract and university security officers are also posted on certain street corners to monitor access to parking lots and public transportation. Also, an escort service is always available. The San Francisco Police Department can and will be summoned for emergencies, assistance and to report criminal activity. All other locations rely on their local police agencies for assistance. University staff are on duty, at all locations, whenever facilities are open.

Campus Reporting Procedures

Any crime or suspicious activity must be reported immediately. To report any emergency, security incident or suspicious activity while at the San Francisco campus, individuals should follow the procedures specified in the Golden Gate University Emergency Procedures Card or the Reporting Crimes and Emergencies Card (In brief, that means dialing "0" from any office or lobby phone during business hours.) Both cards are located near each lobby phone and are also widely distributed for office use throughout the university. Upon notification, a member of the Business Services and Facilities staff will respond to the scene, take any appropriate action and place additional calls for assistance if necessary. When in doubt, anyone may summon help by dialing "9-1-1" from any office or in-house lobby telephone. All security and medical incidents are documented on a SIME (Security Incident/Medical Emergency) form and placed in a log. Strict confidentiality is placed on these documents. However, copies are distributed on a need-to-know basis, to university administration. All criminal activity will be exhaustively investigated. The manager of security reviews SIME's before they are forwarded to the appropriate university administrators.

University Policies on Drugs and Alcohol

The university is concerned about your health and safety. Abuse of alcohol and controlled substances can seriously impair your health and your ability to work and study. It may cause you to endanger the safety and well being of others. The university promotes an environment on campus that rejects substance abuse as an acceptable life-style, informs you about resources for preventing or treating substance abuse, and helps you make healthy decisions about alcohol and other drugs.

Prevention of substance abuse is sought in several ways: by promoting healthy use of leisure time through recreational and other activities, by enhancing skills for dealing with stress, and by working through campus leaders to establish a healthy environment.

The unlawful or unauthorized possession, use, distribution, dispensation, sale, and manufacture of controlled substances or alcohol is prohibited on university property or as part of any university activity. Employees and students who violate this policy may be disciplined in accordance with university policies, statutes, rules, regulations, employment contracts, and labor agreements, up to and including dismissal and referral for prosecution. Any employee convicted of a drug or alcohol offense involving the workplace is subject to discipline and/or may be required to complete a drug rehabilitation program as a condition of continued employment.

The university has also implemented a smoke-free environment policy in order to further provide a healthy atmosphere for all students, employees and visitors. Smoking is not allowed in any university-owned or leased buildings or surrounding outside spaces.

Sexual Assault and Rape Awareness

Sexual assaults are among the ugliest and most psychologically devastating of crimes. They threaten, degrade, violate and criminally deprive victims of their basic human right to the safety and sanctity of their person. Sexual assaults are also among the most underreported crimes because of the victim's fear, shame, and misunderstanding of their rights.

The university recognizes and deplores the unique nature of sexual assault. Any such act committed against the integrity of another person will not be tolerated. Every reported instance of sexual assault will be thoroughly investigated, and with the consent of the victim, appropriate disciplinary, criminal and legal actions will be initiated.

The university, because of its size and location, is especially and primarily concerned about student, staff and faculty in their transit to and from our multi-building locations. At the San Francisco campus, security escorts are always available during evening hours within a three block radius of the campus.

To promote the awareness and prevention of sexual assault, the university sponsors guest presentations once a year by professional staff from local rape crisis centers. In addition the university offers three times a year, the viewing of educational videos. The university also distributes an assortment of sexual assault prevention materials at all security informational events.

At the San Francisco campus, any sexual assault should be reported immediately to security, student affairs or human resources using the reporting procedures outlined in the following sections above. Anyone who is the victim of sexual assault will be advised by security of their option to file criminal charges with the SFPD.

We care...

As unfortunate as it may seem, living with and doing our best to prevent crime, is becoming an aspect of daily life. There are certain things that all of us can do to make our work and school environment a safer place.

By being aware of our surroundings and by watching out for one another, and by being willing to report any suspicious activity, we can work to make our environment a safer place. If you have any comments, questions, or concerns about security, you may contact the director of Business Services and Facilities at 415-442-7082, or any member of the staff at your GGU location.
