ADJUNCT FACULTY STIPENDS

1. Bus/Tax/Acctg adjunct faculty:

   a. The amount an adjunct faculty will be paid for teaching a course will vary depending on class size, subject matter, teaching experience and professional qualifications. Stipends should be in the range of $2,500 - $4,000. For EMBA, Tax, Doctoral courses, and PLUS courses, the stipend will range from $3,000 - $9,000. Contractually agreed upon stipend amounts may be reduced or increased when in the 3rd week of class:

   - enrollment > 25 = $500 increase in stipend
   - enrollment > 35 = $1,000 increase in stipend
   - enrollment > 70 = $2,000 increase in stipend
   - enrollment < 7 = $1,000 reduction in stipend

   b. Course development: for adjunct faculty, development of a new course or major course revision or developing a new course into a different modality (i.e., from face to face to Cyber campus, or from 15 to 16 or 8 week) merits a stipend of $2,500 - $3,000 as negotiated by the dean.

   c. Independent study – Those teaching a doctoral independent/directed study, whether full-time or part-time, may be awarded a per-student stipend of $750.00. For all other independent study arrangements, only adjunct faculty may receive a stipend, such stipend to be $300.

   d. Custom studies – should a course not run because of low class size, the instructor will be allowed the opportunity to teach what is currently called a “custom study” for 1-4 students. The stipend for custom studies will be $300 per student.
