CLass Size

Beginning fall 07, deans should strive to schedule and regulate classes so that in the first week of class enrollment is at least 10 students. Other functions in the university charged with supporting and promoting academic programs shall likewise strive, within their means, to support this objective. When enrollment is less than 10 students, the dean should consider class cancellation if there are sufficient options for placing students in other classes unless other pedagogical or curriculum needs justify continuing with the class.
